1| Introduction

1.1. Purpose and Objectives

The Promotion of Access to Information Act, 2 of 2000, gives effect to the constitutional right of access to any information held by private bodies that is required for the exercise or protection of any rights.

The Act provides that a person requesting information must be given access to any record of a private body, if that record is required for the exercise or protection of a right. However, the right to access to any information held by a private body may be limited to the extent that the limitations are reasonable and justifiable in an open and democratic society based on human dignity, equality and freedom as contemplated in Section 36 of the Constitution.

This document informs requesters of procedural and other requirements which a request must meet as prescribed by the Act.

1.2. Availability

This document will be available on the Company's website, providing customers, clients and other external stakeholders with direct access to the manual.

2.6. Processing Details

- i. In terms of POPIA, data must be processed for a specified purpose.
- ii. The purpose for which data is processed by IRDSA will depend on the nature of the data and the particular data subject.
- iii. This purpose is ordinarily disclosed, explicitly or implicitly at the time the data is collected.
- iv. IRDSA processes personnel data for administration purposes.
- v. Personnel data is also processed to the extent required by legislation and regulation. For example, IRDSA discloses employees' financial information to the Commissioner for the South African Revenue Service, in terms of the Income Tax Act 58 of 1962 and employee's sensitive personal information in terms of the Employment Equity Act 55 of 1998.
- vi. IRDSA processes client related records as an integral part of its commercial services. For example, IRDSA processes client related records during the client application process, in assessing a client's profile and risk, in administering a client's health plan.
- vii. IRDSA may also process data provided to it by industry regulatory bodies and other sources to consider a client's application, to conduct underwriting or risk assessments, or in considering a claim.
- viii. IRDSA processes third party records for business administration purposes.
- ix. IRDSA processes "other party" records for business administration purposes. For example, personnel data may be processed in order to effect payment to contractors and / or suppliers.
- x. In performing these various tasks, IRDSA may, amongst others, collect, collate, process, store and disclose personal information.
- xi. This list of processing purposes is non-exhaustive.

2.7. Categories of Data Subjects

IRDSA holds information and records under the following categories of data subjects:

- Employees / personnel.
- Clients.
- Any third party with whom IRDSA conducts its business services.
- Contractors.
- Suppliers.
- Service providers.

This list of categories is non-exhaustive.

2.8. Recipients to whom Personal Information will be Supplied

Depending on the nature of the data, IRDSA may supply information or records to the following recipients:

- Statutory oversight bodies, regulators or judicial commissions of enquiry making a request for data.
- Any court of law, administrative or judicial forum, arbitration, statutory commission, or ombudsman making a request for data or discovery in terms of the applicable rules (i.e., the Competition Commission in terms of the Competition Act 89 of 1998).
- A contracted third party who requires this information to provide a healthcare service to a client or any dependant/s on the client's Insurance/Medical plan.
- Third parties with whom IRDSA has a contractual relationship for the retention of data (for example, a third-party archiving service).
- Auditing and accounting bodies (internal and external).
- Anyone making a successful application for access in terms of PAIA.

2.9. Security Measures

- i. IRDSA takes extensive security measures to ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of personal information in IRDSA's possession.
- ii. IRDSA takes appropriate technical and organisational measures designed to ensure that personal data remains confidential and secure against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage.

2.10. Grounds for Refusal of Access to Records

The main grounds for IRDSA to refuse a request for information relates to:

- i. Mandatory protection of privacy of a third party who is a natural person:
 - a. The Head of the Private Body must refuse a request for access to a record if its disclosure would involve the unreasonable disclosure of personal information about a third party, including a deceased individual.
 - i. Trade secrets of a third party.
 - ii. Financial, commercial, scientific, technical information of a third party, other than trade secrets, where the disclosure thereof would be likely to cause harm to the commercial or financial interests of that third party.
 - iii. Information supplied to the third party in confidence, and if disclosed would place the third party at a disadvantage in contractual / other negotiations or prejudice the third party in commercial competition.
- ii. Mandatory protection of commercial information of a third party:
 - a. The Head of the Private Body must refuse a request for access to a record if that record contains
- iii. Mandatory protection of certain confidential information of a third party:
 - a. The head of a private body must refuse a request for access to a record if the disclosure of that record would constitute an action for breach of a duty of confidence owed to a third party in terms of an agreement.
- iv. Mandatory protection of safety of individuals, and protection of property
 - a. The head of the private must refuse a request for access to a record if its disclosure could reasonably be expected to endanger

- the life or physical safety of an individual.
- b. The Head of the Private Body should also refuse if the disclosure would be likely to prejudice or impair the security of a building, structure or system, including a computer or communication system.
- v. Mandatory protection of records privileged from production in legal proceedings
 - a. The Head of the Private Body must refuse a request for access to a record, if the record is privileged from production in legal proceedings unless the person entitled to the privilege has waived such privilege.
- vi. Mandatory protection of research information of a third party and protection of research information of a private body
 - a. The Head of the Private Body must refuse a request for access to a record if the record contains information about research being or to be carried out by or on behalf of a third party or a private body and the disclosure of which would be likely to expose:
 - i. The third party or the private body;
 - ii. A person that is or will be carrying out the research on behalf of the third party; and
 - iii. The subject matter of the research, to serious disadvantage.
- vii. Commercial activities of IRDSA

These include:

 - a. Trade secrets of IRDSA;
 - b. Financial, commercial, scientific and technical information which disclosure could likely cause harm to the financial or commercial interests of IRDSA;
 - c. Information, if disclosed, could put IRDSA at a disadvantage in negotiations or commercial competition; and
 - d. Computer programs owned by IRDSA and which are protected by copyright.

2.11. Available Solutions when IRDSA Refuses a Request for Information

- i. IRDSA will, within 30 days of receipt of a request, decide whether to grant or to decline that request and give notice with reasons.
- ii. The 30 day period within which IRDSA has to decide whether to grant or refuse the request, may be extended for a further period of not more than 30 days if the request is for a vast amount of information or the request requires the search for information to be held at another location and the information cannot be reasonably obtained within the original 30 day period.
- iii. IRDSA will notify the requester in writing should an extension be sought.
- iv. When a requester is not satisfied with the decision made for example, refusing access, imposing an access fee or extending the time period for when a response is due, he/she may lodge an application with a court against the decision made within 60 days of receiving the decision that caused the grievance.

2.12. Fees
